MAHS Students Share China Experience

Students from Mount Airy High School share their experience from the Youth Summit held in China in July.

An opportunity arose for MAHS to participate in a Youth Summit in China with other high school students from other countries. The International Student Group selected MAHS to represent the United States.

David Petri Speaks about Farm to Feet Branding

David Petri, Vice President of Marketing for Nester Hosiery, spoke about the business of the outdoor industry and the impact that Farm to Feet has in the United States.

Nester Hosiery is a $115 million dollar business within the sock industry. With Farm to Feet being a 100% American made product it helps support over 2000 jobs in the U.S. and employs 200 employees in Mount Airy.

Nester Hosiery began changing it's machines to knit wool and brought in the technology for seamless socks at the turn of the century. This allowed Nester Hosiery to grow and become a private label. Nester has made it's way into Canada, Japan and they are looking toward Europe to grow the market there as well.

Farm to Feet is a product we can all take pride in and applaud Nester Hosiery for making a product that clearly stands above the rest.

Jill Reinhardt, Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum & Instruction at Surry County Schools introduced Jeff Edwards, the Coordinator of the Science Institute at Meadowview. Jeff Edwards provided Rotary members with a short video on the science program and how it reaches into other areas besides science.

The magnet school offer a strong curriculum with the math and sciences and has been a well received addition to the Surry County School System.

MCA's Mission

Millennium Charter Academy's Headmaster, Kirby McCrary, spoke about the philosophy and vision of the school. He touched on the history, enrollment, funding and budget. As well as the number of employees, curriculum and extra curricular activities the school has incorporated.

As MCA moves forward, Headmaster McCrary shared that the mission of the school is the well rounding of the citizen. The formation of an individual whose mind and heart choose to act as one. And to embrace truth, goodness and beauty. These are just a few of the characteristics all MCA students strive to possess.
